

Foregale Ltd

Quality Policy Statement

Foregale Ltd was established in 1981, our aim is always to provide defect free materials at a competitive price supported by a first class service.

Quality is important to our business because we value our customers greatly. We strive to provide our customers with products and services which meet and even exceed their expectations. We are committed to continuous quality performance within the business as a whole, and always look to implement improvement where and when appropriate.

Our internal procedures are constantly observed as part of our quality management process to ensure that accuracy and efficiency is maintained as well as ensuring the continuous suitability of our procedures also.

We recognise that the only way to maintain and build our reputation further is by constant monitoring our processes.
